

düsseldorf

symposium on decision

neuroscience

Düsseldorf Symposium on Decision Neuroscience

June 12, 2015

Programme

- 10:30-11:00 - Introduction
Tobias Kalenscher, Heinrich-Heine-University, Düsseldorf
- 11:00-12:00 - Neuronal reward signals: From subjective value to formal economic utility Wolfram Schultz, Cambridge University
- 12:00-13:00 - Economic inequality in the prefrontal cortex
Philippe Tobler, University of Zürich
- 13:00-14:00 - Lunch
- 14:00-15:00 - Cognitive and neural mechanisms of persistence
Joe Kable, University of Pennsylvania
- 15:00-15:30 - Coffee break
- 15:30-16:30 - Fairness, trust and cooperation: Insights from decision neuroscience
Alan Sanfey, Donders Institute, Nijmegen
- 16:30-17:30 - Drinks

Participation is free, but we ask all participants to register with the organizers. Please send an email to zsofia.hangebrauk@hhu.de to register. Because space is limited, registration is binding, but can be cancelled up to 2 weeks before the symposium.

Location

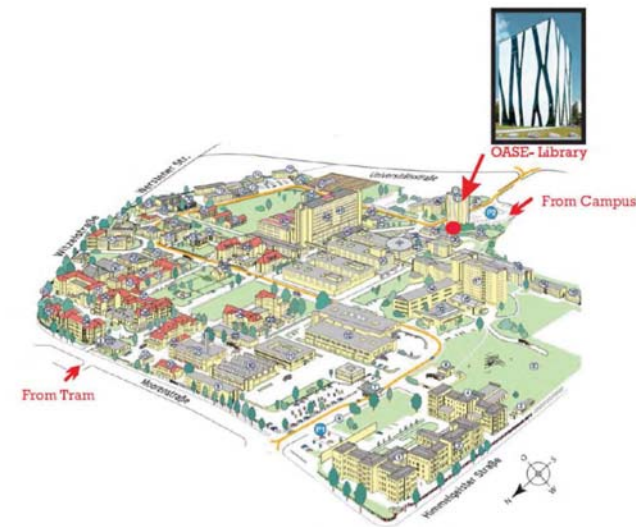

Address: Library „OASE“

Universitätsstraße 1
DE-40225 Düsseldorf

Tram: Catch tram 707 to "Uni Ost" in front of Düsseldorf main station and exit at "Uni- Kliniken".

Car: Free parking available next to Mensa.

Taxi: Ask the driver to take you to Uni-Hospital / MNR-Klinik and he/she will drop you off right in front of the venue

Questions? Write an email to zsofia.hangebrauk@hhu.de. You will be informed about any changes after registration.

sponsored by

Heinrich Heine

HEINRICH HEINE
UNIVERSITÄT DÜSSELDORF

LAND NRW